High Level Security Systems

Securus Rampart™

The Securus Rampart is a temporary or permanent high security base solution with Security Fencing that offers Multi-Threat protection against attack by hostile vehicles, ballistics and blast loads. Designed and manufactured as a modular precast concrete system, it forms an effective barrier along a threat line.

Each concrete block is 1.2m high and can be fitted with both our Securus SR1 and AC fencing systems that gives increased protection from threats that may take on various different attack patterns. The blocks are fully transportable and can be positioned either permanently or temporarily at any location around the world. With no requirement for foundations or ground fixing the Securus Rampart can be reused multiple times, making it the perfect barrier for government, military and critical infrastructure organisations; as well as major events.

The Rampart is intended for use within a force protection environment and as an individual unit holds STANAG 2280 and PAS 68 ratings. Given it is aesthetically pleasing, it can also be used in locations where security and appearance are important. This is particularly applicable to large public events such as sporting occasions and conferences where it can be used as a dedicated short term solution to even the largest threats.

Supported by a wide range of covert and overt security systems, it is a holistic approach to High Security Multi-Threat protection.
